SUBJECT: NIE-42: THE CURRENT SITUATION IN ALBANIA WITH PARTICULAR
REFERENCE TO GREEK, YUGOSLAV AND ITALIAN INTERESTS
(Draft for consideration by the IAC Representatives)

THE PROBLEM

To assess the strategic importance of Albania; ~~and~~ to examine the stability of the existing regime; ^{and to} ~~analyze~~ analyze Greek, Italian and Yugoslav interests in Albania, ~~and to estimate the degree to~~ ^{whether} ~~which the conflicting interests of these powers might obstruct the~~ ~~effective defense of Southeastern Europe and the Eastern Mediterranean.~~

CONCLUSIONS

Out
1. Albania has political importance for the USSR as an outpost of Communism, ~~and~~ the loss of Albania would be a blow to Soviet prestige.
Since the defection of Yugoslavia, Albania has lost most of its strategic importance to the USSR.

2. The present regime in Albania is under ^{direct} ~~the~~ Soviet control.

3. Dissatisfaction with the Hoxha regime is widespread in Albania and has manifested itself in some overt resistance. Such resistance, however, has met with limited success, largely because of: (a) the lack of coordination among resistance groups within Albania; (b) the lack of cooperation among the emigre organizations in Italy, Yugoslavia, and Greece; and (c) the failure of (any of) Albania's neighbors adequately to support opposition movements.

4. The conflict of interests between Italy, Yugoslavia, and Greece in Albania is one of the factors limiting their cooperation in the development of coordinated plans for the defense of South-eastern Europe.

DISCUSSION

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF ALBANIA

7. Politically, Albania is of ~~political~~ importance to the USSR primarily as an outpost of Communism. The USSR would regard its loss as a blow to Soviet prestige, particularly since the defection of Yugoslavia, and the failure of the Communist effort in Greece. Militarily, Albania occupies a strategic location at the entrance to the Adriatic. Saseno Island and the port of Valona have potential value as bases for mine craft, small naval attack craft, and submarines, which might for a short period cause annoyance to naval operations in the Adriatic and Ionian Seas. Albania is of minor importance to the USSR, although it occupies a strategic location at the entrance to the Adriatic, under modern conditions its capabilities for development are limited. Saseno Island was a minor Italian submarine base and there have been recurrent but unconfirmed rumors in the postwar years of Soviet efforts to reconstruct these facilities. There is no confirmed evidence of extensive Soviet efforts to build up Albanian air facilities and, although Albania might be of value as an outpost in an early warning system for air defense of the Soviet orbit, there is no evidence of Soviet radar installations. Since the defection of Yugoslavia, Albania has lost most of its strategic importance to the USSR because of the lack of overland communication with the Soviet orbit. However, Albania would be of some significance to a land campaign in the Balkans, since operations in conjunction with Bulgaria, if successful, could ^{separate} ~~isolate~~ Greece from Yugoslavia.

THE CURRENT SITUATION IN ALBANIA

The Stability of the Regime and Extent of Soviet Control

8. Prior to the Cominform-Yugoslav rift in June 1948, Albania was closely tied, both politically and economically, to Yugoslavia. Rather than follow Marshal Tito's heresy, however, Hoxha chose the Moscow camp and launched a vigorous campaign for the elimination of "nationalist" elements in Albania. Hoxha not only extricated Albania from its ties with Yugoslavia, but also succeeded in eliminating serious competition for leadership within Albania. Reported rivalry between Hoxha and the Minister of Interior, Lt. Gen. Mehmet Shehu is likely to be of little importance as both men are apparently firmly controlled by the Kremlin.

9. ~~(The Kremlin has recognized the importance of Albania as a (Soviet) outpost in the Mediterranean area.)~~ Following the Tito-Cominform Rift, the USSR increased its aid and support to the Hoxha government, replacing the support formerly received from Yugoslavia.

10. Albania is ^{totally} dependent upon Soviet ~~economic~~ support. Without it, the country's economy would be severely shaken within a few months. Soviet control is reinforced by ^{from} ~~an estimated 1,000~~ ^{to 1500} Soviet ~~military and civilian~~ "experts" in key positions in the police, military, and civilian administrations as well as in the party hierarchy.

11. With Soviet support Hoxha and Shehu have thus far succeeded in ruling the country through the usual Communist methods of police ^{at least} terror and rigid economic controls. ~~The security forces~~ ^{The leadership of the armed} forces ~~and most of the rank and file of the security forces~~ are loyal to the party and constitute effective instruments for the suppression of opposition. ~~The loyalty of the rank and file~~

12. Soviet support to Albania, however, has not included a mutual assistance pact, probably because the USSR desires to leave the situation fluid and avoid a commitment which might prove embarrassing.* Albania has such a pact only with Bulgaria (16 December 1947).

* The only other Satellites which have not concluded mutual assistance pacts with the USSR are Eastern Germany and North Korea.

13. Nevertheless, any ~~change~~ change in the Albanian situation which might threaten ~~the present regime~~ Soviet control would automatically involve a question of Soviet prestige in an area in which one Satellite has already defied the Kremlin. In such circumstances, Soviet ^{country however,} action would depend on the character of the threat and ^{its magnitude} ~~its~~ upon broader considerations of global strategy. ~~But~~ Under existing circumstances, the change could probably come only from one of the neighboring states, it would necessarily lead to
Resistance to the Present Regime

14. Dissatisfaction among the Albanian people continues to be widespread and there has been some overt resistance within the past few years. The regime itself has admitted the existence of "diversionist" elements and attacks upon military and civilian supply convoys. The most dramatic incident of resistance activity was the bombing of the Soviet Legation in February 1951, but local assassination and limited economic sabotage have probably been more effective challenges to Communist authority. Thus far, the Hoxha regime has been able to deal with opposition movements by instituting further repressive measures. For example, Shehu has organized special pursuit battalions which operate in the mountainous areas against individual resistance groups.

15. Refugees have reported the existence of various local ^{resistance} ~~rebel~~ groups, such as the "National League of the Mountains," "Liberty," "Skanderbeg,"* "Call" and "National Unity", but specific information regarding these groups is lacking. There does not appear to be any established cooperation among the various dissident groups despite their common desire to rid Albania of the Hoxha regime.

16. Among the Albanian emigre resistance movements the Committee for a Free Albania, an affiliate of the National Committee for a Free Europe, with operational headquarters in Rome is perhaps the most influential. The Committee's activities within Albania have been limited to propaganda work and some subversive efforts by agents. Its most effective operation thus far has been the dropping of propaganda leaflets. These leaflets ^{have} caused considerable excitement within the country, prompting ^{periodic} ~~for~~ official notes of protest to the Italian government and encouraging Albanians to flee Albania.

Peasants and Villagers (Agrarian Party) which has its strongest following in the extreme north and in the neighboring Yugoslav provinces inhabited largely by Albanians. Although these groups have the common objective of establishing an independent and sovereign Albania, they differ among themselves as to the type of government to be created.]

17. In addition to the internal organizations and the Committee for a Free Albania, there are operating within Albania representatives of pro-Italian, pro-Yugoslav, and pro-Greek Albanian emigre groups. Despite their common opposition to the present regime, their ultimate objectives reflect the divergent interests of the three countries. Their activities have been limited because of fear on the part of each country that a change in the Albanian regime might benefit one of the other neighbors, ~~and because of fear of a Soviet reaction~~

~~the Soviet Union might react militarily to any disorder in Albania.~~ and possibly for fear of precipitating an international crisis.

18. The efforts of both the internal resistance groups and the emigre organizations are uncoordinated and their objectives frequently conflict. These factors have simplified the task of Albanian security forces in isolating and destroying individual groups.

As long as the resistance effort is ~~divided~~ divided and does not receive substantial external aid, the Albanian security forces will probably succeed in containing it.

Conclusion

CONFLICTING INTERESTS OF ITALY, YUGOSLAVIA AND GREECE

20. Albania has long been a bone of contention among its neighbors. Their interests conflict to such an extent that, even under present circumstances, the problem of Albania complicates the development of good relations and cooperation among Italy, Yugoslavia and Greece. Other problems such as Trieste and Macedonia, are of greater immediate importance in creating dissension among these powers, but Albania would probably become a critical issue if the present regime were overthrown.

Italian Interests.

21. Italy's objective in Albania has always been to establish Albania as an Italian sphere of influence and to prevent any other power from gaining a foothold from which Italian influence in the Adriatic could be challenged. In pursuit of this objective, Italy supported the creation of an independent Albania in 1912 and later, in 1914, occupied the island of Saseno and the port of Valona. Italian troops remained in occupation until 1920. Italy was then forced to evacuate the mainland, but retained Saseno which was converted into a ^{minor} ~~base~~ naval and submarine base. By a pact of friendship and security with Albania in 1926, Italy established a legal basis for including Albania in Italy's sphere of influence. Italian influence was manifested by loans, ~~Italian~~ management of nearly all important economic enterprises, and ~~Italian~~ training and equipping of the armed forces. In 1939, Mussolini occupied Albania and united it with Italy, and in 1940, launched his invasion of Greece from there. Under the Italian Peace Treaty (1947), Italy recognized the independence of Albania, ceded Saseno Island, and renounced all public and private property rights, concessions, claims, etc. in Albania.

CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL

22. Italy has not given up, however, its basic objectives toward Albania: the denial of the area to other powers and the restoration of Italian economic and political influence in Albania. In its official statements, the Italian Foreign Office has emphasized that ~~continued~~ Albanian independence and territorial integrity correspond with Italian interests, ~~the~~ Italian efforts to improve relations ^{with} ~~with~~ the present Communist regime have made no progress. Formal diplomatic relations were established in 1949 and, despite Communist restrictions on the Italian Legation in Tirana, Italy undoubtedly intends to retain such relations as long as possible.

CONFIDENTIAL

23. ~~Under present circumstances, Italian policy is of necessity~~ eventually ~~directed toward the future; and~~ Italy evidently aims to re-establish its influence through the pro-Italian exile group, the National Independent Bloc. The leadership of this group cooperated with Italy before and during the war and enjoys the support of the present Italian government;

24. Italy is particularly apprehensive of possible Yugoslav pre-eminence in Albania in the event the Hoxha regime should be overthrown.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

The Italian desire to avoid the establishment of a foothold by any other power in Albania is so strong that Italy probably prefers continuation of the status quo to the creation of a power vacuum which Yugoslavia and, possibly Greece, would be in a better position to fill.

Greek Interests

25. Greek interests in Albania center ^{upon} ~~around~~ Greek claims to southern Albania (Northern Epirus), an area which the Greeks occupied from 1912 to 1916 and which they have consistently claimed on historical, ethnic, strategic and economic grounds. The Greeks also recall that Albania served as a base for the Italian attack on Greece in 1940 and, in the postwar years, for Communist guerrilla operations against Greece. Even at present, Albania is a base from which Communist agents are infiltrated into Greece.

26. Greece, like Italy and Yugoslavia, is attempting to further its policy through the use of Albanian refugees. Those in Greece are primarily from southern Albania and are apparently concentrated in camps along the Albanian border. To date, their efforts have been largely in the field of espionage, propaganda and the encouragement of additional emigration. ~~The Greek Government does not permit them to leave Greece or to become Greek citizens.~~ Some of those in the camp at Yannina are reported to be formed into military units, intended for eventual use in southern Albania.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

27. The Greeks probably look on partition of Albania between Greece and Yugoslavia as the ideal solution to the problem. They are apprehensive of possible Yugoslav or Italian domination of the entire country, and would probably attempt to occupy Northern Epirus in the event of military action in the area, such as a Yugoslav invasion of Albania. For the present, in the absence of Allied assurances against possible Italian or Yugoslav domination of Albania, Greece probably prefers continuation of the status quo at least so long as the Hoxha regime does not resume full scale support to the Greek guerrillas.

Yugoslav Interests

28. ~~Yugoslavia has always~~ ^{Serbia} opposed the principle of an independent Albania, ~~as did Serbia and Montenegro before it.~~ ^{in the period from 1912 to 1918.} Following World War I,

the Yugoslavs
~~Yugoslavia~~ occupied northern Albania [and did not withdraw] until 1921. In 1926, Yugoslavia finally accepted the Albanian frontier as delineated in 1913. Until the outbreak of World War II, Italian domination of Albania prevented Yugoslavia from exercising any influence.

29. This situation changed radically during World War II when Tito, through Albanian Communists, managed to obtain control of the Albanian National Liberation Movement. Tito's control was exercised largely through emissaries attached to the headquarters of the Albanian Army of National Liberation, and, from 1944 to 1948, Albania was a puppet of Yugoslavia. In 1948, Hoxha was able to extricate Albania from its ties with Yugoslavia following the Tito-Cominform rift.

30. Since 1948, Tito has ostensibly championed the principle of an independent, sovereign Albania and has condemned both Greek territorial claims and the alleged Greek proposals for the partition of Albania between Greece and Yugoslavia. Yugoslav is particularly In the past several apparent months, Yugoslav propaganda has ~~also~~ charged Italy with encouraging the plans of Albanian exiles for an "ethnic" Albania which would include the Yugoslav provinces of Kosovo and Metohiya, both populated chiefly by Albanians. Tito's actual objective appears to be the eventual creation of an anti-Soviet, pro-Tito regime in Albania and a return to the status of 1944-1948. It was apparently to this end that the "League of Albanian Political Refugees in Yugoslavia" was formed in May 1951. The League, which claims to represent some 5,000 Albanian refugees, is ~~composed largely of~~ ^{controlled by} Albanian Communists who have fled from Albania since 1948, ~~and~~ ^{it} was created by Belgrade as an instrument of Yugoslav policy, despite its proclaimed objective of "an independent, free, indivisible, democratic and republican" Albania. The League has already engaged in some espionage, sabotage and propaganda activity, and possesses a considerable potential for more extensive operations. Yugoslavia's exposed position, however, has probably deterred Tito from using the League to the full. Yugoslav spokesmen have expressed the fear that any substantial efforts to overthrow the Hoxha regime might be taken by the USSR as a pretext for military action against Yugoslavia.

THE POSSIBILITY OF A SETTLEMENT

31. The existence of Albania ^{as} ~~an~~ [^] ~~sovereign~~ state has in the past always depended upon the attitude of stronger powers. Although all three of Albania's neighbors would presumably wish to see the eventual liquidation of the present regime in Albania, their interests in the ultimate status of Albania are incompatible. Since Albania's isolation from the Soviet orbit in 1948, the policy of each of its neighbors has been directed at establishing a position from which it could profit in the event of the overthrow of the Hoxha regime. As a result, each country has sought to counter the moves of the others. This has led to a diffusion of resistance efforts within Albania. Rivalry among the three countries over Albania is also one of the factors limiting the cooperation of these nations in the development of coordinated defense plans in South-eastern Europe. ~~Furthermore, if the existing regime should be overthrown there would be serious danger of a clash among the rivals.~~

32. If Albania were liberated from Soviet control, Italy and Yugoslavia could probably be induced to accept a decision by the Western Powers to recognize Albania as a sovereign and independent state. Because of its claims to "Northern Epirus", which would be thwarted in the event of Western recognition of a new Albanian regime, Greece would probably not accept such a solution.
